

Marion Davies Picture To Show For Two Days

Torrance Theatre Also Will Feature 'Sandy' Sunday
and Monday

Marion Davies had to have her hair cut short like a man's and study the intricacies of a masculine walk for her latest role. In her new Cosmopolitan picture, "Beverly of Graustark," coming to the Torrance Theatre Thursday and Friday, she masquerades as a crown prince, adopting all the mannerisms of a man. She strikingly resembles the Prince of Wales in her disguise.

Night clubs seem to be getting more than their share of publicity these days. The latest picture in which one appears is Adolphe Menjou's new Paramount production, "A Social Celebrity," which comes to the Torrance on Saturday.

The sequence in which the cabaret acts as a background serves as the climax to the film.

"The Cowboy and the Countess," a highly original story of a troupe of cowboys on an exhibition tour of Europe, with Buck Jones starring in the title role, will be shown at the Torrance Theatre Saturday.

Madge Bellamy, who enshrined herself in the hearts of motion picture fans through her colorful performance of the criminally heroine in "The Iron Horse," has a widely different but equally effective role in the Fox Film, "Sandy," at the "Heads Up," a crackjack comedy-melodrama that is out of the ordinary, will be seen at the Lomita Theatre today, with the popular Maurice (Lefty) Flynn in the leading role and a fine cast in support. It is Entertainment with a capital E.

New Serial Film Starts Saturday At the Torrance

"The Radio Detective," a thrilling ten-episode adventure picture, based on Arthur B. Reeve's famous story and starring Jack Dougherty, which is to be screened at the Torrance Theatre, commencing Saturday, has in it much to interest radio fans everywhere. Every phase of the picture touching on the radio is based upon solid radio-scientific facts. Universal having employed special radio experts for this purpose. It is a clean picture of the activities of a many young American college athlete, scoutmaster and radio wizard, exciting from start to finish.

Daugherty is supported by a competent cast consisting of Margaret Quimby, John T. Prince, Jack Mower, Wallace Baldwin, Howard Enstedt, and Florence Allen. William James Craft and William A. Crinley directed.

Dolley Drug Is Orpheum Theatre Ticket Station

In this day of superservice in every line of business endeavor, it is only fitting and proper that the theatrical world should strive to serve the public as do a thousand other businesses, and with this thought in mind the Orpheum Theatre, Los Angeles, several months ago launched its first move toward accommodating each and every theatregoer in Southern California, by establishing in 56 different locations throughout the Southland branch box offices, thereby making it possible for nearly anyone in Southern California to purchase Orpheum tickets to any performance without any added charge except the cost of the branch's phone call to Los Angeles, and establishing a precedent in the entire country as far as the theatre is concerned.

The Orpheum for 33 years has striven for the presentation of high class vaudeville, bringing to its theatres the latest novelties, greatest artists, and newest things in entertainment, so it was entirely fitting and proper that it should be the first to offer the public this unusual and convenient service.

That the people of the Southland appreciate this innovation in service is proven by the fact that now an expert box office man is constantly engaged in supplying these branches and assisting them in every way to better their service for the people, and a large portion of the Orpheum's steady clientele comes through these valuable offices where a person is able to ask for tickets and procure the exact numbers of the seats for the matinee or evening performance he wishes to attend.

The nearest local Orpheum branch office will be found at the Dolley Drug Store, Torrance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Henley and daughter, Juanita Sutton, attended the Cabrillo Theatre in San Pedro Saturday evening.

Miss Evelyn Emerson, daughter of Mrs. Omer Bromley, will spend the summer at Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carlson of Huntington Park were recent guests at the home of Mr. Carlson's sister, Mrs. John Archer, of Arizona street.

Mrs. W. O. Shoemaker and parents enjoyed a fishing trip to one of the beaches Monday.

Orpheum Bill Will Feature Liberty Week

Raymond Hitchcock and Ruth Chatterton Head
New Program, July 4

The 150th anniversary of American independence, which starts Sunday, July 4, will bring to the Orpheum a special Independence Week bill with many unusual features created in commemoration of the week. The most unusual comedian in America, Raymond Hitchcock, will be the headline feature and with his genial manner of introducing everyone to everyone on the stage and in the audience a true spirit of democracy will pervade the entire week.

Another most unusual feature will be Ruth Chatterton, the distinguished American actress, in "The Confidant," a delightful playlet by Vincent Lawrence. Ledova, the brilliant dancer, with Leon Varkas, Joseph Napolitano and the Stecherban Gypsy Quintet, will offer her most elaborate program, as another feature of the bill.

Frank Dobson in "Love Doctor," with Violet Follis, Lois Stone, Eve Wendt and Stella Belton, is another highlight of the Independence Week bill, as is Corinne Tilton in a Cycle of Song Studies.

The Del Ortos and Jack Merlin with Lois Evans in "Just a Lot of Laughs" will complete the special bill.

An outstanding feature of the Orpheum Circuit's observance of Independence week will be the distribution to every child attending the theatre of a handsome souvenir copy of the Declaration of Independence.
